What We Are Learning:

Reading: We will continue to work with a variety of graphic organizers using nonfiction text.

Language Arts: We will spell words with the /z/ sound. In grammar we will have a singular/plural nouns quiz and then move into our next unit: verbs. In writing we will finish our "Animal Teeth" pieces and continue to research and plan for our nonfiction pieces.

Math: We will continue to look at patterns in multiplication. There will be a math quiz on Wednesday. Our next topic of study reviews some basic multiplication rules regarding 0 and 1.

Science: Students will have an open book quiz on Tuesday. We will then begin to explore magnets, our next topic of study.

At Home:

The January weather has been brutal! Please make sure your child is wearing a hat and gloves when they come to school. Some areas of the school building feel rather cold, so a sweater at school is helpful as well.

From the Teacher:

Happy Sunday! I wanted to thank all the families that braved the cold to come out to Southeast School last Thursday for Family Math Night! We had over 200 people come to SE to participate in math activities.

Another way you can support Southeast is to stop by Culvers on Feb 5th from 5-8. Mention Southeast School when you order your food and our school will receive part of the sale. Many staff members (including myself) will be volunteering as well to bring out food this evening. I hope to see you there!
