What We Are Learning:

Reading: We will continue with our Nonfiction unit. This week we will be reading some passages and answering reading comprehension questions as well.

Language Arts: Students will be writing about their New Year's Resolutions this week. In spelling we will spell words with the <-le> ending pattern. In grammar students will identify and spell special (irregular) plural nouns.

Math: We will continue to learn about multiplication. Our focus this week are the 6 and 7's facts. There will be a topic B quiz on Friday in the morning. We will also continue with out nightly math fact practice. There will be a quiz on those facts Friday as well.

Science: We will begin a new unit in Science this week on electricity and magnets. This week students will learn about static and current electricity. They will learn how a circuit works too.

At Home:

Please initial your child's reading log each night after you have talked to them about their nightly reading to ensure that they were really reading the text. Ask them to describe to you what they read.

From the Teacher:

Happy 2019! I hope that you and your family all had an amazing Holiday Season! Our calendar is odd because it has students returning from a long break for only one week before ending second quarter. We have an early dismissal on Friday because of second quarter ending. Please check your child's grades on Power School (using the Parent Portal) and contact me if you'd like to meet for a conference on 1/11 in the afternoon. Report cards will be distributed the following Friday (1/18/19). One general concern I have for our class is a lack of attempting Accelerated Reader quizzes. Please chat with your child about their AR progress.
